14. The Defendants had a duty to its business invitees that were shopping at the aforesaid store to keep them safe from harm while inside the store located at 4640 Roosevelt Blvd., Northeast Tower Center, Philadelphia, PA 19124.

15. At all times relevant hereto, Defendant Jane Doe was an agent, employee or workmen of Defendants and working within the course and scope of her employment.

16. At this time the actual name of Jane Doe is unknown to Plaintiff after having conducted a reasonable search with due diligence.

17. The Jane Doe designation is fictitious.

18. Defendant Jane Doe was a light-skinned African American woman, approximately 150-160 lbs, 5'5"-5'6 with shoulder length hair who was approximately 25-35 years old. She was working at the subject Old Navy at the time of the incident working at the middle cash register. On June 8, 2019 she was working as a cashier during the time of the incident which was approximately 1:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. in the afternoon.

19. Plaintiff's counsel conducted in a reasonable search to determine Defendant Jane Doe's actual name.

20. Defendant Jane Doe was an employee of the Defendant Old Navy at the time of the incident and therefore Defendant Old Navy possess Defendant Jane Doe's actual name.

21. Plaintiff's counsel contacted Defendant Old Navy, agent, adjuster, Harun Young, and requested the Defendant Jane Doe's actual name and the incident report for this action (which would have contained the Defendant Jane Doe's identity and in the possession of the Defendant). Plaintiff's counsel was advised that the Company policy of the Defendant Old Navy is not to share that information with Plaintiff's counsel prior to a lawsuit being filed.

22. At all times relevant hereto The Defendants had a duty of reasonable care owed to the Plaintiff to hire a competent, qualified, non-violent and stable employee.

23. Prior to hiring Defendant, Jane Doe, Defendants failed to adequately screen her to ensure that she would not pose a danger to any business invitee that visited the Old Navy store located at 4640 Roosevelt Blvd., Northeast Tower Center, Philadelphia, PA 19124.

24. At all times relevant hereto, the Defendants had a duty of reasonable care owed to the Plaintiff to train its employees properly.

25. At all times relevant hereto, the Defendant had a duty to train its employees in how to interact with customers in a safe and respectful manner.

26. Defendants failed to train employee, Jane Doe, how to interact with customers in a safe and respectful manner.

27. Defendant, Jane Doe was a cashier whose position required her to interact with member of the public.

28. Defendants knew or should have known that Defendant, Jane Doe had a known history of violent propensities and demeanor as demonstrated by her getting into altercations with a business invitee of the store and becoming violent.

29. Defendants had a duty to supervise employee, Jane Doe while she was interacting with customers. Specifically, the Defendants had a duty to the Plaintiff to supervise employee, Jane Doe to insure the well-being of customers of the store.

30. Defendants failed to properly supervise employee, Jane Doe, when it failed to adequately discipline and reprimand her when she displayed violent propensities and demeanor toward customers of the store.

31. Defendants failed to adequately supervise Defendant Jane Doe when she was interacting with customers.

32. Defendants owed a duty to customers of its stores to not retain employees who could pose a danger to customers of the store.

33. The Defendants breached their duty to not retain employees who posed a danger to its customers when it failed to terminate employee, Jane Doe, who had known violent propensities and demeanor.

34. At all times material hereto, Plaintiff was a business invitee at the Old Navy store located at 4640 Roosevelt Blvd., Northeast Tower Center, Philadelphia, PA 19124.

35. On or about June 8, 2019, at approximately 2:00 p.m., the Plaintiff, Joy Battle, was lawfully and properly shopping at the Old Navy store located at 4640 Roosevelt Blvd., Northeast Tower Center, Philadelphia, PA 19124.

36. At the aforesaid time and place, Plaintiff, Joy Battle, was at the cash register to pay for her clothing when she encountered Defendant Jane Doe, the Defendant Old Navy's employee and cashier, who was in an extremely agitated mood.

37. At the foresaid time and place, Defendant Jane Doe engaged the Plaintiff in a verbal confrontation over an issue the Plaintiff had with the improper cost of a clothing item and Defendant, Jane Doe, said to the Plaintiff "we can do this right here," indicating that she wanted to physically engage in a fight with the Plaintiff.

38. At the aforesaid time and place, as Plaintiff was attempting to leave the premises, Defendant, Jane Doe, picked up a piece of metal shelving and threw it at the Plaintiff, striking her in the head causing Plaintiff to drop her purse and shopping bag, as well as injuries to the Plaintiff.

39. As a result of the aforesaid incident Plaintiff, Joy Battle, sustained serious and permanent personal injuries as more particularly described below.

40. At the aforesaid time and place, a security guard employed by Defendants failed to contact the store manager or call the police but did safely escort the Plaintiff out of the store.

41. Defendants, Old Navy and The Gap, knew or should have known that their employee, the Defendant Jane Doe, had a propensity for violence and created the risk of harm to Plaintiff and other business invitees shopping at the Old Navy store located at 4640 Roosevelt Blvd., Northeast Tower Center, Philadelphia, PA 19124.

42. Defendants willfully, wantonly, and consciously disregarded Defendant Jane Doe's behavior as an employee, knowing she was a risk to customers of the store.

43. Defendants willful, wanton and conscious acts in hiring and retaining Defendant, Jane Doe when they knew or should have known of her inappropriate interactions with customers of its store, is conduct that is outrageous as it was obvious that Defendant Jane Doe posed an unreasonable risk to customers of its stores such as the Plaintiff.

44. Defendants, Old Navy and The Gap, knew or should have known of Defendant Jane Doe's violent propensities and demeanor and willfully and wantonly failed to act to remedy the dangers that were caused by the employment of Defendant Jane Doe in a conscious disregard of their business invitees' safety which constitutes a wanton disregard for others and human life such that their conduct would be outrageous to a person of reasonable and ordinary sensibilities.

45. Defendants, Old Navy and The Gap, are vicariously liable for the negligent, outrageous, willful, and criminal conduct of Defendant Jane Doe, their employee, agent, ostensible agent or servant due to the fact that Defendant Jane Doe was acting in the course and scope of her employment with Defendants Old Navy and The Gap at the time of the aforesaid incident and Defendants Old Navy and The Gap should have taken measures to protect the Plaintiff and all of its business invitees from Defendant Jane Doe

COUNT I
